

The Washington State Human Rights Commission stands with our nation and our state as we mourn the loss of innocent lives taken by senseless violence. As Commissioners we strive to secure rights and protections so that all citizens of this state know equality, and are able to live their lives free from persecution, oppression and violence. As the LGBT community tries to grapple with this attack on their community we stand with them in solidarity as we all mourn this deeply disturbing chapter of violence in our country.