Established in 1949 by the Washington State Legislature, the Washington State Human Rights Commission (WSHRC) administers and enforces the Washington Law Against Discrimination (WLAD), Chapter 49.60 of the Revised Code of Washington (RCW).

Illegal discrimination based on sexual orientation or gender identity includes:

- Refusal to Hire
- Firing you or forcing you to quit or retire
- Harassment
- Refusal to use appropriate name or pronoun
- Unequal terms, conditions or privileges of employment
- Refusal to allow entrance to a place of public accommodation
- Unequal terms in credit or lending
- Refusal to sell, show, or rent in housing and real estate transactions

If you feel you have experienced discrimination based on sexual orientation or gender identity, please contact the Washington State Human Rights Commission at:

1-800-233-3247 VOICE
1-800-300-7525 TTY

Language interpreters are available. Accommodations to people with disabilities will be made.

The Washington Law Against Discrimination (WLAD) prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, creed, sex, sexual orientation and gender identity, marital status, age (40+ and in employment only), the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability, HIV or Hepatitis C status, families with children status (in housing only), and the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person.

Complainant Process

Everyone has an obligation to comply with the law and a right to seek redress when harm occurs. Complaints alleging violations of RCW 49.60 must be filed within six months of the date of harm; in housing, complaints must be filed within one year; and in Whistleblower complaints, within two years. Complaints may be resolved during an investigation subject to agreement between the parties and the WSHRC. To obtain additional information about the complaint process, visit our website or contact one of our offices to speak with an intake officer.
